

Internet Issues

* Read from slide 1-10, the IIS actually pretty shit but if you want to, you may.

Internet service providers

The ISPs must follow the following rules & regulation.

1. Does not modify the info
2. must comply with condition on access of info
3. Comply with rules regarding updating the data
4. Does not interfere with lawful use of technology, widely recognized & used by industry to obtain data on the use of info.
5. Acts expeditiously to remove or disable access to the info that has been obtained at the initial source of transmission

Law Across National Boundaries

Criminal law: Suppose you publish a website that doesn't violate any law in country A but has unlawful content ~~for~~ acc. to laws ~~of~~ of country B. In that case your website will be banned in Country B. but you will not be prosecuted in country A or extradited to country B.

Civil law: Any contract that involves more than one country should state explicitly under which jurisdiction i.e. which country's law is to be interpreted.

Defamation:

Making statements that will damage someone's reputation, bring them into contempt, make them disliked etc..

In British law, spoken offence is called slander & written is called libel

Hostile role: An infrastructure provided to the public to post the libels - e.g. personal web pages, blogs etc.

The Organization for Cyber crime

"The international convention on cyber crime.
→ deal with the objectionable material on the internet, criminal copyright infringement, computer-related fraud & hacking

Internet watch foundation → UK org. to deal with cyber crime

Internet content rating association (ICRA)

→ int. independent org.
→ claims to help parents to protect their children from harmful material on internet while respecting the content providers freedom of expression

Spam:

unsolicited email sent without the consent of the addressee & without any attempt at targeting recipients who are likely to be interested in its content

Registration of phone numbers: slide 28-3

↳ shitty slides, dill chahay to parh leba.